RECORD OF JOCKEYS

Jockey Nelson, whose ride on Strike Out a few days ago cut short a promising career as a star jockey, was ruled off the track when he led all the other boys as a rider of the most winning mounts. In one day last week Nelson rode three winning mounts. His riding during the week increased his percentage and placed him at the head of the column. Sullivan, who previously headed the list of jockeys riding at this meeting of the Utah Jockey club, rode fewer winners this week than formerly, and was forced out of first

Jockey Cavenaugh, whose ankie was broken in a spill last Thursday, is well up in the list. He has always ridden consistently, whether on a winning or losing mount, and though he has ridden fewer favorites than many of the other boys, he has always been trying and very often succeeding in bringing his horses in the money. His accident puts him out of the racing game for this season, and his friends fear that he will take on so much weight while confined to the hospital that he will be unable to train down to riding Bales, Ida, June 18—Botse was unable 1900s, If. 4 0 1 2 2 0 New York and Sail Lake's dash for the pennant by the policy of the string of the string of the string of the string of the policy of the p

Perhaps the greatest interest centered in the motor followers, Samuelson, Wilcox and Munroe, as this trio are to have it cut in a match tomorrow night. Many commented on the work of Wilcox, who seems to be going better than ever before in his life. That he will succeed in taking the measure of Samuelson in this event is predicted by many who have watched him work the past week. Both Wilcox and Samuelson had no trouble "sticking" while the motors carried them around at a 1:20 clip.
